  - Still Hunting
  - Spot and Stalk

Antelope

- Habitat
  - Sage Brush Seas
  - Wyoming, Montana, Colorado, New Mexico, AZ
  - Open areas reliant on vision
- Hunting considerations
  - Excellent Vision so you will need to sneak
  - Often little water where antelope live
  - Far shots are common
  - They are Smaller than you think
  - Shot for white baseball size knob behind shoulder
  - Glassing is Key
  - Gloves and Kneepads to spite the cactus
  - Carry extra water
  - Fur is hollow and pulls out easily (shoulder mount skinning is tough)
  - All bucks look similar Focus on deep V forks or unique spreads between horns

Antelope 2

- Meat care
  - Seasons in August through early October so get the meat broken down and in the shade quick
  - Hang meat ASAP and get the breeze on the meat
  - DO NOT put the whole animal in one game bag
  - Meat dries out quick in arid climate
  - Shooting
    - 400-yard shots are common
    - 127 156 bullets are well-suited for the job
    - 6.5 300 win mag are all good calibers

Antelope

Buck has distinctive black band under lower jaw

BUCK

Does do not have a black ban under their jaw

Does may also have small horns

ANTELOPE HUNTING REGULATIONS

ANTELOPE CHARACTERISTICS

The ability to distinguish between buck, doe and yearling buck antelope is critical to hunters holding licenses valid for only does and fawns.

- Horns Should be prominent with a prong or point between the base and tip and extend beyond the ears for adult males. Yearling bucks have shorter horns, typically at ear-length. Does often grow horns, which occasionally grow to the length of the ears.
- 2. Cheek patch Both yearling bucks and adult bucks have a black cheek patch below the ear at the angle of the jaw. Even among fawns, which usually lack visible horns, the black cheek patches distinguish males from females. Females lack the black cheek patch.
